

Dear Friends/Neighbors:

The Virtuous Woman Project is hosting its 2nd annual Golf Tournament “The Royal Classic,” on Saturday, June 15, 2019 at the Queenstown Harbor Golf Club in Queenstown Maryland and we are currently seeking sponsors, donations and players.

The Virtuous Woman Project is a 501c3 non-profit organization which provides financial assistance through scholarships to “female” high school seniors, as well as help to meet the needs of the community. Our goal is to be the platform in which female students will receive the resources necessary to exceed in life and to further their education. Recognizing not all students wish to attend college after graduation, we strive to ensure programs will be implemented such as workshops and seminars that will equip students with the tools needed to enhance their quality of life and prepare them for the workforce.

The” Royal Classic,” named after and in honor of the late Royal J. Adams, Sr. affectionately known as “Jake” was an avid golfer and the father of Kim Harris, founder of The Virtuous Woman Project. Royal was a dedicated employee with the U.S Postal Service where he was a lead mechanic for (45) years. Royal golfed with “The Generals” of Annapolis until he was physically no longer able. A portion of the proceeds from the tournament will be made to the National Lymphoma Society in his memory.
